Introducing the qualifications

The ILM Level 5 Award in Management, ILM Level 5 Certificate in Management and ILM Level 5 Diploma in Management are qualifications that have been specially designed to give practising or aspiring middle managers a solid foundation in their formal development in this role.

The Award is a concise qualification designed to develop basic middle management skills and knowledge. The mandatory unit examines organisational structure and function, the roles and responsibilities of middle managers and the effect of communication and interpersonal skills on managerial performance. The final element of the unit explores the evaluation of personal development opportunities.

The Certificate builds on and broadens the areas covered in the Award in a flexible and practical way (please note candidates may join the Certificate directly and are not required to undertake the Award as a prerequisite). Here, 'managing improvement' is explored, both in terms of organisational and personal improvement. 'Developing the reflective manager' concentrates on the analysis of personal strengths and weakness and how to work through problems using creative techniques. The crucial skill of 'making a financial case' is also explored in the fourth mandatory unit for the Certificate.

The Diploma develops a comprehensive range of basic middle management skills, assisting participants in gaining the knowledge required at this level. The qualification builds on the Award and Certificate, though is more suited to the practising manager. (Please note candidates are not required to undertake either the Award or Certificate as prerequisites and may join Diploma programmes directly). The additional mandatory units cover 'critical thinking' – evaluating theory against reality – and 'leading innovation and change' – identifying opportunities for development and exploring the impact of organisational change on stakeholders.

Flexibility – all learners are able to choose from a diverse range of optional units to build their qualification – an Award, Certificate or Diploma (see tables below and overleaf). This high level of flexibility allows individuals or their employers to custom build a qualification focusing on the key areas of middle management that are most relevant to the demands of a specific role, industry or organisation. From managing health and safety to planning change in the workplace, the ILM Level 5 Management qualifications can be fully tailored to meet the varying needs of learners across all employment sectors.
