Leadership and Management offer in Scotland

A City & Guilds Group Collaboration

About us

The City & Guilds Group consists of five businesses, including City & Guilds and ILM, all focused on giving individuals, businesses and economies the skills they need to progress.

We've been operating in Scotland since 1996, working with the Government, employers, colleges and training providers and trainees across key industry sectors. We are focused on providing current work-based learning qualifications that meet the needs of workplaces today and the future.

The City & Guilds Group is a recognised Credit Rating Body (CRB) in Scotland, which means we can develop our credit rated qualifications and training programmes and place them on the Scottish Credit and Qualifications Framework (SCQF). We work closely with the SCQF Partnership to ensure our credit-rated provision is maintained to their standards and support the endeavours of the framework. We are also a regulated Awarding Body recognised by Scottish Qualifications Authority (SQA) and the other UK qualifications regulators.

In Scotland, we develop our qualifications in line with the requirements of the SCQF and the SQA quality models and ensure their alignment with the needs of Scottish learners, providers and employers. In the Leadership and Management sector, we promote our qualifications and services using the ILM brand. ILM is the UK's leading specialist provider of leadership, coaching and management qualifications and a leading brand within the City & Guilds Group.

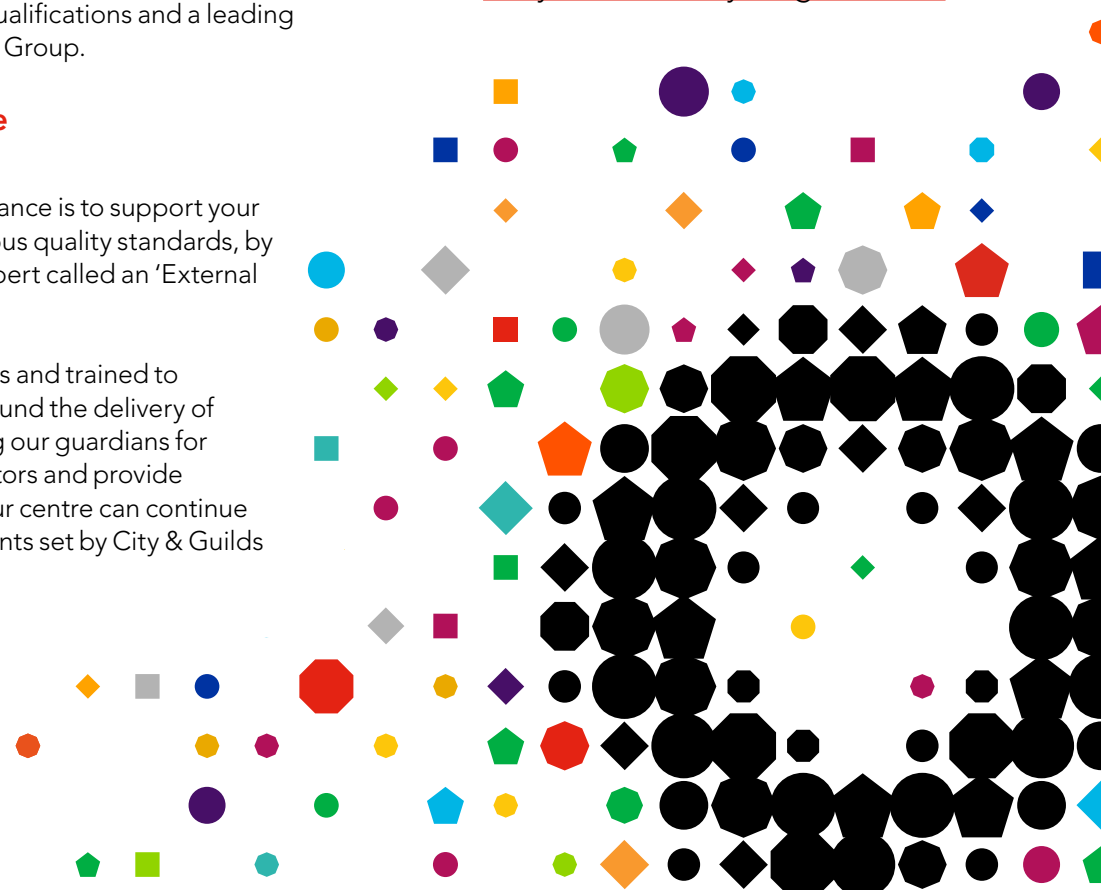

How is the quality of the qualifications assured?

Our approach to quality assurance is to support your centre in upholding our rigorous quality standards, by assigning a subject matter expert called an 'External Quality Assurer' (EQA).

Our EQAs are industry experts and trained to offer advice and guidance around the delivery of qualifications. As well as being our guardians for quality, EQAs also act as mentors and provide recommendations on how your centre can continue to meet the quality requirements set by City & Guilds and the Scottish regulators.
