Total qualification time

Total Qualification Time (TQT) is the number of notional hours which represents an estimate of the total amount of time that could reasonably be expected for a learner to achieve and demonstrate the achievement of the level of attainment necessary for the award of a qualification.

TQT is comprised of the following two elements:

1. the number of hours which an awarding organisation has assigned to a qualification for guided learning
2. an estimate of the number of hours a learner will reasonably be likely to spend in preparation, study or any other form of participation in education or training, including assessment, which takes place as directed by – but, unlike guided learning, not under the immediate guidance or supervision of – a lecturer, supervisor, tutor or other, appropriate provider of education or training.

Centre requirements

Approval

Centres must ensure they are approved by ILM to offer this qualification before commencing delivery. Centres must submit a learner journey plan (formerly known as a scheme of work), lesson plans etc. Once approved, the qualification will be listed on a centre's Walled Garden Catalogue. Centres should liaise with their Business Development Manager to obtain add-on approval.

Resource requirements

Occupational competence requirements

Centres must demonstrate that staff who are actively involved in the delivery of the qualification meet the occupational competence requirements determined by ILM. It is also the centre's responsibility to inform ILM of any changes to staffing by completing and returning a Centre Update Form \(CUF\). A curriculum vitae (CV) should be available for review by the Quality & Compliance Manager (QCM)/External Quality Assurance (EQA) if requested. Centres are responsible for updating the Centre Staffing Matrix.

Evidence of occupational competence

ILM qualifications are derived from the Regulated Qualifications Framework (RQF) Level Descriptors and are designed to develop learner's knowledge, understanding and skills which are then assessed through a range of work related assessments.

Centre tutors, assessors and Internal Quality Assurances (IQA) are therefore required as a team to have a combination of appropriate competences in learning, assessment and Internal Quality Assurance methodologies. This must be underpinned by knowledge and experience of leadership, management and team skills within an education environment. This should be relevant to the qualifications being delivered and the learners undertaking them.

Centre staff will only be expected to meet a range of evidence indicators. The table below shows the occupational competence requirements of tutors, internal quality assurances and/or assessors.

Learner entry requirements

ILM has not set an entry requirement for this qualification however centres must ensure that learners are in a position to meet the assessment demands of the qualification, which are work-based and reflective in nature. As this qualification is work-based, learners must be employed in an appropriate role.

Age restrictions

ILM cannot accept any registrations for learners under 19 as this qualification is not approved for under 19s.

Time constraints

- Qualification registration is valid for three years.

Delivering the qualification

Initial assessment

An initial assessment of each learner should be made before the start of their programme to identify:

- if the learner has any specific training needs
- support and guidance they may need when working towards their qualification
- any previous, relevant qualifications or learning where recognition of prior (RPL) learning can be applied
- the appropriate type and level of qualification.

Centres are required to demonstrate commitment to equal opportunities when recruiting candidates. The Customer Handbook (www.i-l-m.com/handbook) gives guidance in making arrangements for learners requiring reasonable adjustments or special considerations in respect of assessment. This should be done as early as possible in the programme and needs to be approved by ILM before implementation.

Induction

Each programme must start with a short induction of at least two hours and should include written information for learners covering:

- an outline of the qualification and the related learner support available.
- the aim of the ILM Level 4 Diploma in School Business Management.
- expectations of, and benefits to, the individual and where relevant, their employer.
- format of the programme – content, hours, attendance, delivery methods, etc.
- the assessment requirements, including assessment criteria.
- roles and responsibilities of centre staff, learners and ILM.
- learning and study skills, including reference to use of library, internet and any open or online learning to be used.
- information on tutorial support, advice and guidance, equal opportunities, appeals procedures, authenticity and plagiarism, collusion and cheating.
- the Institute of Leadership studying membership and benefits.

The following is recommended for this qualification:

Assessment

Summary of assessment methods

The qualification contains three mandatory units which are assessed internally and subject to Internal and External Quality Assurance:

Unit number	Unit title	Assessment method	Description	Mandatory/optional
8392-400	Operational Leadership in Schools or Trusts	Portfolio of evidence	Centre assessed	Mandatory
8392-401	Finance in Schools or Trusts			Mandatory
8392-402	Procurement in Schools or Trusts			Mandatory
8392-403	Supporting Human Resource Management in Schools or Trusts	Portfolio of evidence	Centre assessed	Optional
8392-404	Estate Management in Schools or Trusts			Optional
8392-405	Marketing and Communications in Schools or Trusts			Optional

- To achieve a pass for this qualification, the learner must pass three mandatory units and one optional unit.
- Unit specific assessment guidance is included within each unit.

Assessment strategy

The purpose of the assessment for this qualification is to:

1. provide a robust, valid and reliable assessment
2. ensure that the learner is able to meet all outcomes as defined in this specification
3. closely align to the professional standards specified by ISBL.

Internal assessment

All units in this qualification are internally assessed by the centre and subject to internal and external standards Quality Assurance.

To pass each internally assessed unit the learner must:

- satisfy all assessment criteria by providing sufficient, consistent, current, authentic and valid evidence
- demonstrate that the evidence is their own.

Assessment decisions can only be determined as competent (pass) or not yet competent (refer) and the only acceptable reason for a referral is a failure to meet one or more assessment criteria.

Portfolio-based assessment

All units are assessed via a portfolio of evidence. Centres can choose the way evidence is gathered for each unit within the parameters provided and the assessment guidance for the unit.

All assessments created by centres must be valid, fit for purpose and based on the unit assessment criteria.

Assessment guidance

Assessors must assess against the assessment criteria for each unit; however assessment guidance has been included for each assessment criterion to ensure sufficiency and provide advice. Within the guidance 'must' is used to identify activities that must be completed to meet sufficiency and 'may' is used where learners may use the advice to include information to enhance their answer.

Types of evidence

Centres can choose the way evidence is gathered to be included in the portfolio for each unit, as long as the methods chosen allow learners to produce valid, sufficient and reliable evidence of meeting the assessment criteria. A balance of evidence types needs to be produced, demonstrating learners' competence.

Evidence for skills/competence-based assessment criteria should be produced in a school environment/context where possible. If opportunities for achievement do not exist in a school setting, and the assessment criteria doesn't specify in a school, evidence can be gathered outside of a school/ in a non-school setting. In cases where opportunities for achievement of skills/competence-based assessment criteria aren't possible simulation can be used, however this should be a last resort after other options have been investigated and exhausted.

Evidence for these units is likely to come from naturally occurring activities from the workplace and may include (but is not restricted to):

- products from the learner's work
- records of team minutes/agendas
- direct observation of the learner's performance by their assessor
- outcomes from oral or written questioning
- personal statements and/or reflective accounts
- professional discussion
- authentic statements/witness testimony
- records of external customer communications
- written reports
- case studies.

It is preferred that learners undertaking this qualification are in an appropriate job role within a school environment. It is expected that those learners not working within a school will work with a mentor within a school to enable them to collect school specific evidence. However, some of the skills criteria are not school specific. This will allow demonstration of competencies by people in other contexts and to allow evidence of how competency will transfer into a school context. The aim of this is to avoid excluding capable, qualified candidates from other sectors who are looking to transfer into a school. This must be agreed with the assessor prior to starting the qualification.

Recognition of prior learning

RPL means using a person's previous experience or qualifications which have already been achieved to contribute to a new qualification. Please refer to the ILM Recognition of Prior Learning Policy.

Appendix 1 Assessment guidance

This appendix provides further information on how to assess all internally-assessed units.

Assessment planning and review

Centres need to produce an assessment plan for each learner to show what evidence is required. Assessment plans should indicate clearly which assessment criteria are being targeted.

An initial assessment plan must be continually reviewed and up-dated throughout the learner's progress on the programme. This ensures effective time management and targeting of achievement. It is essential for ensuring steady progress and avoiding non-completion of the programme.

The assessment plan should clearly indicate the actions, resources and timescale for completion, and be agreed and completed at each meeting of the learner and their assessor. At subsequent meetings the plan should build with feedback and review and further actions should be agreed.

Copies of the plan should be held by the learner and also by the centre - usually with the assessor. External Quality Assurers will require access to the plans to verify the centre's compliance with the requirements in this respect.

Quality assurance

Centres should be aware that any assessment decision made within the centre is subject to External Quality Assurance by ILM. It is important that centres have a procedure for explaining this clearly to learners - possibly during the induction process, or in learner handbooks, etc.

Learners should be told that assessment decisions are informal, until confirmed by both internal and External Quality Assurance processes. This should form part of the routine feedback to learners on assessment decisions.

Documentation should be in place to allow Internal Quality Assurances and External Quality Assurances to trace exactly how the assessment decision was reached. It is important that the assessor is able to record how the learner's evidence demonstrates their competence so that the assessor judgement and decision is clear. Centres may like to consider the example Assessment Record Sheet provided in Appendix 4.

Centres should refer to the ILM Internal Quality Assurance Policy for full details of both Internal and External Quality Assurance guidance.

Workplace assessment

Learners are expected to demonstrate competence to the standards required over a period of time sufficient to demonstrate they are competent. Therefore, to ensure validity, evidence should be naturally occurring and collected through performance in the workplace.

It is acknowledged that not all employers' workplaces are the same, therefore assessment conditions may not be identical. However, to safeguard the integrity of the qualification and ensure a robust and consistent approach to assessment the assessor must ensure the assessment conditions reflect, as far as possible, those in which the learner is expected to work.

It is imperative the learner is not placed under more, or less, pressure than found normally in the workplace during assessment. It could be the case the learner may feel more pressure simply because he or she is being assessed.

Simulation/case study

Where naturally occurring evidence cannot be generated in the workplace in the first instance learners and centres are advised to discuss ways of creating opportunities where this may be possible in the working environment.

Evidence may be produced through simulation/case study solely in exceptional circumstances unless it is explicitly indicated in this handbook that simulation/case study is not allowed. The exceptional circumstances, under which simulation/case study is possible, are those situations that are not naturally or readily occurring, and it is not possible to create suitable opportunities to generate them in the working environment. You may find it helpful to discuss this with your QCM prior to the simulation/case study activity.

Simulation/case studies must be undertaken in a 'realistic working environment' (RWE). An RWE is 'an environment which replicates the key characteristics in which the skill to be assessed is normally employed'. The RWE must provide conditions the same as the normal day-to-day working environment, with a similar range of demands, pressures and requirements for cost-effective working.

Holistic and integrated assessment

A holistic approach towards the collection of evidence for this qualification is encouraged. The focus should be on assessment activities generated in the workplace, through naturally occurring evidence, rather than focusing on specific tasks. Taken as a whole, the evidence must show the learner meets all learning outcomes and assessment criteria consistently, over a period of time. It should be clear where each learning outcome/assessment criteria has been covered and achieved.

Holistic assessment could be achieved through the use of integrated assessments. Units do not have to be assessed one-by-one; they can be assessed in combination. When a single assessment instrument, including a project or presentation, is used for two or more units, this is called 'integration'.

A rationale for integrating assessments is needed, for example, either sequencing (i.e. one unit naturally follows and builds on another) or content overlap (ie there are common areas between units, eg communication). The same integration principles can be applied to individual learning outcomes from different units.

All the assessment criteria from the units being integrated need to be included in the assessment exactly as worded in the unit. However, to save the learner from having to do much of the same thing repeatedly, one piece of work by the learner may well simultaneously satisfy two or more similar criteria.

Further guidance on integrating assessments could be found in the ILM Guidelines for integrating assessment for two or more ILM units.

Judging sufficiency

Judging the sufficiency of a learner's piece of work is often a key aspect in assessment. The test of whether the evidence is of sufficient quantity and quality is very much informed by the qualification level and, in particular, by the verb used in the relevant assessment criterion. The higher levels expect a fuller learner response with greater breadth and depth.

Some sufficiency indicators are provided in the unit assessment guidance for the units. In addition to these, assessors, tutors and learners must examine the verb used in the assessment criterion. At Level 4, lower level of demand assessment verbs such as 'identify', 'describe' and 'explain' are commonly used in criteria. At Level 5, more demanding assessment verbs like 'assess' and 'analyse' are used. Definitions of key assessment verbs can be found on the ILM Assessment Verb Glossary.

Evidence presented by the learner can be claimed against more than one assessment criterion as long as it meets the criterion requirements. For example, evidence from a work project undertaken by the learner could provide sufficient evidence to meet the requirements of a number of assessment criteria from a number of different units.

Documentation should be in place to allow Internal and External Quality Assurers to trace exactly how the assessment decision was reached.

Grounds for referral

Although there can be grounds for being unable to review a portfolio of evidence, learners cannot be referred purely because of poor literacy, presentation or missing a deadline. The reason must relate to the requirements of the assessment as articulated by the assessment criteria.

Authenticity

It is a regulatory requirement that every learner must formally declare the authenticity of their work for each submission for assessment. Declarations must be in an auditable form. ILM External Quality Assurers cannot ratify any assessments where the learner has not specifically confirmed it is their own work.

ILM provides a Submission Cover Sheet that centres are recommended to use for this purpose, which could be found in the ILM Plagiarism, Collusion and Cheating Policy. If a centre opts not to use the cover sheet, it is essential that some mechanism is used to require learners to specifically confirm the authenticity of each assessment.

Communication of assessment decisions

Centres should be aware that any assessment decision made within the centre is subject to ratification by ILM. It is important that centres have a procedure for explaining this clearly to learners - possibly during the induction process, or in learner handbooks. Learners should be told that assessment decisions are informal, until confirmed by Internal and External Quality Assurance and the awarding body. This should form part of the routine feedback to learners on assessment decisions.

Language of assessment

Assessment of all units for this qualification will be available in English. All learner work must be in English.

Access arrangements

Assessments need to be administered fairly to all learners.

Access arrangements allow candidates to show what they know and can do without changing the demands of the assessment, for example, through the use of readers, scribes and Braille question papers. Access arrangements are agreed before an assessment. They allow candidates with special educational needs, disabilities or temporary injuries to access the assessment.

Further information on how to apply for access arrangements can be found in the ILM Access Arrangements and Special Considerations policy.

Special considerations

A special consideration is a post-assessment adjustment reflecting an unforeseen circumstance which could affect a learner's performance during or near the time of an assessment. Further information on how to apply for special considerations can be found in the ILM Access Arrangements and Special Considerations policy.

Appendix 2 Conducting professional discussions

Purpose

A professional discussion is a planned, in-depth, two-way conversation between an assessor and a learner and provides a holistic approach to assessing performance, knowledge and understanding. It can be used to probe the level of competence of the learner so the assessor is certain that their actions are based on a firm understanding of principles which support practice. It can be used to test the validity and reliability of a learner's evidence and confirm authenticity where this is questionable. It can help a learner who finds written evidence difficult to produce or used to address any gaps in the learner's product evidence. It enables the assessor to make a judgement of competence against agreed standards.

Planning the discussion

Learners and assessors should plan for a professional discussion. It should be a structured process where a time and date are agreed in advance. Appropriate time must be allowed for the discussion to take place and the specific areas of activity to be explored. The methods by which the discussion will be conducted must be clearly identified and agreed in advance.

The assessor needs to be clear about the required outcomes and should agree with their learner a list of areas/points they wish them to cover. It is recommended that learners receive a written copy of these points in advance of the discussion. Assessors should ensure that learners have a good understanding of the relevant standards and the assessment process.

Facilitating the discussion

The assessor must be skilled in putting the learner at ease and should be experienced in the interviewing process in order to make their learners feel comfortable about the process. Therefore, the assessor's interpersonal skills are key in achieving positive results. The assessor's role is to manage the process in order to allow their candidate to prove their knowledge and understanding in a supported environment but without the assessor constantly directing and leading the conversation.

As the beginning of the discussion, the assessor is likely to be doing most of the talking, for example recapping the reason for the discussion and agreeing how the main points of the discussion will be assessed and recorded. However, as the discussion progresses, the learner should be doing most of the talking with the assessor ensuring the discussion remains focused and effective. They may periodically summarise points covered, question to probe for more information or clarify certain points of the discussion while using language the learner understands. The discussion needs to be time managed by the assessor.

Recording the discussion

When using this assessment method, the discussion becomes the evidence and it is how the discussion is managed, recorded and referenced that will make it valid, relevant and reliable.

The discussion may take place face-to-face or remotely and arrangements for this should be agreed in advance.

A professional discussion is a planned event which is recorded. The recording can use a variety of techniques including written notes, verbal recording, video, Skype, recording on smart phones and online Instant Messaging. The discussion must be saved and included as part of the learner evidence with the assessment criteria annotated as to where they have been addressed.

A record of the discussion should be produced to show how the points relate to the standards/evidence requirements. Whatever recording method is selected, the assessor needs to ensure that the evidence resulting from the discussion is clearly referenced to the appropriate standards/evidence requirements. This is important to enable effective Quality Assurance and is a way of formalising the process.

If handwritten notes are taken by the assessor it is good practice for the learner to authenticate them and confirm them as a true record of the conversation. If audio is used, it is important that the learning outcomes/assessment criteria are mapped to the recording – ideally with the time when the criteria was addressed via the discussion. For example, 1m 55 secs AC 3.1, 2m 43 secs AC 5.4 and AC5.5.

The learner's evidence and the assessor's decision about the evidence must be available to all those involved with Quality Assurance. There is not a need to transcribe recordings but annotated time counters will allow the Quality Assurance team to pinpoint material more easily during the Quality Assurance process.

Common mistakes when conducting a professional discussion

- Lack of preparation.
- No clear link between the discussion and relevant standards.
- Lack of prior agreement between assessor and learner about the format/content.
- No specified time or dedicated space for the discussion.
- Not referencing the discussion correctly.
- Use of group discussion instead of required individual discussion.
- Ineffective questioning and discussion techniques, such as:
 - asking too many questions at once.
 - asking a question and then the assessor answering it themselves.
 - always asking the same kind of question.
 - not giving the learner time to think and answer.
 - asking difficult questions too early in the conversation.
 - leading the learner.
